TO RETAIN BOLLING
IN WATER DEPARTMENTCommittee Approves Ordinance
Increasing Duties of City Engineer.

WILL END OFFICE SCRAMBLE

Proposed Woodyard Law Rejected—Umlauf Chairman, to Succeed Dabney.

Satisfied that the interests of the municipality can be more thoroughly served by increasing the powers of City Engineer Charles E. Bolling, the Council Committee on Commerce, Ordinance and Reform recommended last night the passage of an ordinance under which he will become superintendent, ex officio, of the Water Department. At the same time the companion ordinance placing the public buildings under the control of Inspector Beck was approved.

In the event that the consolidation ordinance is adopted by the Council there will be no election in July for a water superintendent. From an economical viewpoint, the measure will be popular, as it will reduce the department expenses. The committee recommended that the engineer be paid $1,000 a year additional for his extra work.

Having devoted more than twenty years to the perfection of the water system, Mr. Bolling is naturally familiar with all the details, the consensus of opinion being that he is the most capable man to be found in the direct head of the department. By giving a part of his duties to Inspector Beck, he will have ample time to look after the new and more important work.

Killed Woodyard Ordinance.
After electing Councilman Umlauf chairman, to succeed Mr. W. T. Dabney, resigned, and Alderman Ellett subcommittee, the committee acted on a number of important measures. The building code was finally received from the commission. It will be printed and approved at a subsequent meeting.

The ordinance relating to wood-yards, providing that they must be kept out of the business and residential sections hereafter unless the owners receive the written permission of a majority of the persons owning property on the block, was unfavorably reported.

The ordinance relating to bill-posting was changed so that the license will remain at $200, as proposed, but with a reduction in bond from $10,000 to $1,000. In its modified form it was sent on for passage.

Because of the general tendency to legislate against boys the committee rejected the ordinance which provides that the small people shall not be permitted to enter buildings under construction. It was stated that until playgrounds are secured the boys can go where they please, so long as Chairman Umlauf, as they keep out of the saloons.

REMAIN AT CITY HALL

Judge Turpin Tenders Private Office to Bar Association.
The executive and library committees of the City Bar Association met yesterday afternoon to consider the question of quarters for their library. A number of gentlemen appeared with proposals, all of which were discussed, but it was finally determined to accept the suggestion of Judge Turpin that the library be kept in the private office at the City Hall. At present the books are in the rooms which will be used for the new civil court, and Judge Turpin will have an office adjoining.

FAMILY ASLEEP;
HOUSE BURNINGHenrico People Have Narrow
Escape—Body of Mr. McDowell
Taken to Baltimore.

Mr. William H. McDowell, a brother of Thomas B. McDowell, of Baltimore, who was found dead beneath a trestle about twenty miles below Richmond on Thursday morning, arrived in the city yesterday and took the body to Baltimore in the afternoon. He said he felt sure that there was no intention on the part of his brother to commit suicide, in spite of the fact that he had met a great deal of trouble recently.

The acting coroner of the county, Dr. J. Fulmer Bright, held an inquest yesterday morning. The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company was relieved of any blame in the matter, as the body showed no signs of having been struck by a train. It is presumed that Mr. McDowell was walking along a stream and accidentally fell in. The funeral will take place in Baltimore to-day.

House and Outhouses Burned.
Early yesterday morning a large house, belonging to Mrs. Esther Schull, on the New Market Road, about three and a half miles east of Richmond, caught fire and was burned to the ground, along with three outhouses, which caught from it. The flames were not discovered until after the house was gutted, and Mrs. Schull and her family had difficulty in escaping without injury. The inmates of the house were all sleeping on the second floor, the ground floor being used as a store.

The loss is estimated at more than $2,000. The insurance, if any, was small. No one seems to know just how the fire started, but it is not thought that it was of incendiary origin.

Dr. Collins Has Narrow Escape.
While visiting his patients on Wednesday, Dr. G. T. Collins, of Henrico, had a narrow escape. The young horse he was driving became frightened at a passing train, bolted, ran into a telephone pole, smashed the buggy and threw out both Dr. Collins and his wife, Will Doggett, who was driving with him. The latter received several severe bruises, but the physician was not hurt at all.

DOCTOR ADVISED
USE OF CUTICURA

After Other Treatment Failed—
Eczema in Raw Spot on Baby
Boy's Face Lasted for Months—
Cried with Pain when Washed.

ECZEMA WAS CURED AND HAS NEVER REAPPEARED

"Our baby boy broke out with eczema on his face when one month old. One place on the side of his face the size of a nickel was raw like beefsteak for three months. When I washed his face with soap and water he cried with pain. I gave him three months' treatment from a good doctor, but at the end of that time the child was no better. Then my doctor recommended Cuticura. After using a box of Cuticura Soap, a third of a box of Cuticura Ointment, and half a box of Cuticura Resolvent he was well and his face was as smooth as my baby's. He is now two years and a half old and no eczema has reappeared. I am still using the Cuticura Soap. I think it is the finest toilet soap ever used. I keep my little girl's hair and face cleansed with it too. I am so thankful for what Cuticura has done for us. Mrs. M. L. Harris, R. F. D. 1, Alton, Kan., May 14 and June 12, '07."

GOVERNOR GOES
TO CHARLOTTEWill Attend Confederate Reunion
To-Day and Return To-Night.

SELECTING RIFLE RANGE

Military Committee Visiting Several Proposed Locations.
Capitol News.

Governor Swanson had a number of callers yesterday, among them being Mayor McCarthy, who was with him for some time. The Governor will spend to-day in Charlotte county attending a Confederate reunion, and will return here to-night. He has received an invitation from the Tamm Society, of New York, to be one of the speakers at the annual pow-wow on July 1st, but will probably be unable to accept. He has also been invited to the eighteenth annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans in Birmingham, Ala., June 9th, 10th and 11th.

At the instance of the Lunenburg authorities, the Governor has increased from $100 to $150 the reward offered by him for the arrest and conviction of John E. Stokes, who is charged with the murder of J. T. Wood, a young merchant at Nutbush, in that county. The supervisors of the county have increased the amount to about $600 in all.

The sheriff of Lunenburg has returned from Sparrow's Point, Md., where he found that the Stokes had not been arrested by the authorities there, and that he was on his way to the Governor's office.

The Governor has honored a requisition from the Governor of North Carolina for George McCormick, alias Mason, and C. A. Beasley, who are wanted on the charge of being fugitives from justice. They are in jail in Lynchburg.

Rifle Range Site.
A committee representing the Military Department of the State government left yesterday for various sections of Virginia to look over several sites offered for the rifle range, and rifle range soon to be established. Among those in the party were General C. C. Vaughan, ranking military officer of the State; Secretary of the Commonwealth D. Q. Eggleston, who is a member of the Military Board; and Colonel A. Dempsey, United States Army, assigned to duty in Virginia.

They went in a special coach, provided by Mr. LeRoy E. Brown, who is the agent for the lands in question. Places near Palmyra, Gordonsville, and other places, will be inspected. If they find a satisfactory site, this fact will be reported to the full board, and the location will be approved or rejected after further inspection. It is said that Palmyra, which is the county seat of Fluvanna, stands a good chance of being the range, as it is understood that the site is not definitely determined yet. There will be an assistant commissioner and a number of inspectors. His address was considered ahead of those of some other places. The committee will return here to-night, but no report will be made until the next meeting of the Military Board.

Dairy Department.
Professor W. D. Saunders, who was formerly in charge of the dairy department of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, at Blacksburg, and who was appointed by Governor Swanson to fill the new position of State Dairy Inspector and Pure Food Commissioner, spent yesterday afternoon at the Capitol arranging to open his office.

Professor Saunders said he would probably secure rooms in the Capitol building, but this is not definitely determined yet. He will be an assistant commissioner and a number of inspectors. His address was considered ahead of those of some other places. The committee will return here to-night, but no report will be made until the next meeting of the Military Board.

Baltimore and Ohio Order Entered.
Clerk Wilson, of the Corporation Commission, yesterday entered the order of the commission fining the Baltimore and Ohio Railway $500 for not co-operating with the Southern to put on a through daily passenger train service between Alexandria and Lexington. Judge Claggett B. Jones, of King and Queen, was at the Capitol yesterday. Commissioner of Agriculture George W. Koiner spent yesterday in Petersburg on private business.

Clerk of the House John W. Williams was in his office at the Capitol yesterday. He left last night for his home in Giles county.

THOUSANDS WENT BUT MANY HURRIED AWAY

Women Unable to Stand Strong Talk by Mrs. Carrie Nation—Crowd Curious to See Hatchet Wielder Fills City Auditorium.

Greeted by 5,000 curiosity-seekers, hundreds of whom left the City Auditorium before she had concluded her opening prayer, Mrs. Carrie Nation proceeded last night to speak of the iniquity of the world, without neglecting to paint the depravity of Richmond. Incidentally, she sent eight men in the shanks they brought in a tambo-line full of small coin. Two other helpers lugged to the front the suit cases, out of which came literature and hatchets by the wholesale, and amid the noise of departing friends Mrs. Nation urged all to buy.

Called Spade by Its Name.
The crowd was made up mostly of women and boys. The latter got away early, and many of the women wished they had followed. For the old lady called a spade a spade, and said things about local conditions which are not generally discussed in polite society. That the throng came from curiosity chiefly was proved by the fact that part of it was always shuffling out, and that other groups came in to fill the empty seats.

It was like a great reception. Counting all who got a glimpse of the speaker the total number would reach nearly to the seven thousand mark. Mrs. Nation was slow in appearing. She was hustled to the front by a series of catcalls from the gallery. All the flags and decorations had been removed, and the big stage was bare, with the exception of a little table and two or three chairs in the centre.

pitcher of water was the solitary ornament. Mrs. Nation came out bareheaded. She wore a white duck suit. Holding a Bible in one hand and lifting the other for silence, she knelt and prayed, asking the Almighty to save the Richmond people, who are rapidly going to perdition.

Hit Roosevelt and Cannon.
Evidently on the lookout for something to say, the crowd was not interested in the scriptural dissertation. Being a wise woman, Mrs. Nation said this.

Breaking suddenly from her text, she cried that somebody was smoking a cigarette in the hall, and was immediately subjected to an attack on the festive talking, while a roar drowned her strong talk. Then she began to tell about tobacco and the bars. "Are you going to keep these hellish saloons in Richmond?" she cried. "Yes," shouted a man from the gallery.

"When the son of God came to gather to-night the devil came also," said Mrs. Nation quickly, and this forced the jocular gentleman to subside.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon and President Roosevelt were again mentioned, though without apparent canon. Saying that the President did not fancy anybody but foreigners, she dubbed him Theodore Pabst Anheuser-Budweiser Roosevelt, the crowd yelling.

While Mrs. Nation was assailing the saloons, she saw the chance for an effective hit. Pouring the goblet full of water she lifted it to her lips. "I will drink the pure stuff," she said, "in the interest of prohibition." The crowd laughed. She drained it, and proceeded to attack the Merry Widow. "That big hat is a sin," she declared. "It takes its place next to liquor and tobacco which are the Devil's three sisters. I am glad that women drink them to-night," which was just another evidence of falling eyesight. There must have been a thousand merry ones in the hall.

SENATE WILL KILL
CRUMPACKER BILLDaniel Says Upper Branch Will Dispose of Measure Reducing Southern Representation.

FAVORS PRIMARY SYSTEM

Not Discussing Bryan, but Will Probably Be Heard From at Convention.

Stopping over here last night on his way to Charlotte Courthouse, where to-day he and ex-Congressman H. St. George Tucker will be the chief orators at a great Confederate reunion, Senator John W. Daniel discussed some interesting public matters with a representative of The Times-Dispatch, who called upon him at the home of his friend, Major James D. Patton, on West Franklin Street. He is in good health and spirits, Senator Daniel declares that he is greatly in need of rest, because of exacting work in Washington, his colleague, Senator Martin, having been absent a good deal of the time.

Sorry He Missed Him.
"I am sorry I could not come to Richmond last night and introduce Governor Johnson," he said, "but there were important matters before the Senate, in which the people of Virginia are interested, and my presence there was almost imperative."

When asked if he would discuss matters relating to the coming Roanoke convention, Senator Daniel preferred not to do so, as he had not been able to keep in very close touch with what is going on in the State of a political nature. He did say very frankly, however, that he favored the primary principle of making party nominations.

Won't Pass Senate.
"I was informed just before I left the Capitol this afternoon," he continued, "that the House had passed the Crumpacker bill, reducing Southern representation in Congress, but it will not go through the Senate. I immediately conferred with influential members on the subject, and was informed that they had no idea of taking it up."

Senator Daniel has succeeded in pushing through the upper branch the $20,000 appropriation, which is necessary in order to get the work started on the new Federal building here, and it is expected that there will be a move in this direction very shortly.

He has been engaged for some days on currency legislation, and was only a member of the joint conference committee on the Aldrich bill, which failed, but will also probably be a member of the commission to be named to consider the question in vacation.
